

Supporting Community Health and Wellbeing through Conversation and Healing

Residents are invited to attend a series of virtual and in-person community healing circles that provide welcoming, safe and supportive environments for participatory dialogue, building connections and addressing community trauma caused by the killing of George Floyd last summer, the civil unrest that followed in our neighborhoods and the ongoing trial. These circles are led by cultural healers who are embedded in the community and who use their lived experiences, expertise and training to facilitate conversations that get at shared healing.
